FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The Museum of Modern Art, 11 West 53 Street, announces that because Columbus Day (Monday, October 12) is for many people a holiday the Museum will omit its regular Monday admission fee. Its current exhibition, New Horizons in American Art, will be free to the public all day Monday, October 12, which is the last day of the exhibition.

The Museum of Modern Art, 11 West 53 Street, announces that it will give a series of gallery talks free to the public the last week of its current exhibition, New Horizons in American Art. The talks will be given by Miss Inez Garson, member of the staff of Art Gallery Tours of the Federal Art Project in New York. Miss Garson will conduct those who care to avail themselves of the service on a tour of the four floors of the Museum and will comment on the paintings and other works of art.

The hours of the gallery talks, to which all are invited, are as follows:

- Tuesday, October 6 -- 3:00 p.m.
- Wednesday, October 7-- 11:30 a.m.
- Thursday, October 8 -- 3:00 p.m.
- No talk on Friday
- Saturday, October 10-- 11:30 a.m.
